

May 2025

Dear Kremenets district friends,

It has been too long since we have sent an update on our activities. We have been busy preparing our translations of vital records (more than 37,000) and Revision Lists (censuses; more than 100,000 lines) for public access via JRI-Poland's NextGen database. We have also translated and indexed several new resources, and are preparing for the 45th IAJGS Conference in August.

For a complete list of our resources, see the All Resources page on our KehilaLinks website. Proofed records are available to all. Unproofed records are available on the KDRG Contributors Site (for those who have donated money or services during the previous two years).

Names and towns from all records are searchable in the Kremenets Concordance Database Index. Searching the Concordance is free to all. If you find results that are relevant to your research, we will extract up to 10 records free.

Kremenets Families Evicted from 50 Versts of the Austrian Border, 1853

Part 1 of this translation from Russian lists 104 families considered for eviction. Part 2 lists and describes the property of 27 families found to be eligible for eviction.

(In 1843, Czar Nicholas I ordered the expulsion of the Jews from a strip of 50 versts [about 33 mi.] along the border with Prussia and Austria. Application of this law proved difficult, and in 1858 it was redrafted to apply only to Jews wishing to settle in the border zone after that year.)

The translations from Russian are publicly available on the Kremenets KehilaLinks website. Click on the Part 1 and Part 2 links above to download the files.

- by David Milshteyn, born in Belozirka
- by Yosef Royzman, born in Borki (near Radzivilov)

Other Resources: Shumsk Yizkor Book; Maps

- Shumsk Yizkor Book Project Coordinators Rachel Karni and Lynne Tolman, aided by Enid Cherenson, have completed the translation of Sefer Zikaron Le-Kedoshei Szumsk (Memorial book of the martyrs of Shumsk), published in 1968. Posted in the JewishGen Yizkor Book Project, the translation includes extensive footnotes and cross references. The result is a comprehensive picture of the families that made up the Shumsk Jewish community. A print edition of the book is expected after a name index is completed.
- Ron Doctor recently found a large, useful collection of online maps: Topographical Maps of Eastern Europe: An Atlas of the Shtetl, created by Hap Ponedel of Eugene, Oregon. See, for example, this map of the Jewish Communities of the Pale of Settlement. The site covers maps over the range of European Jewish settlement and across changing boundaries.

45th IAJGS Conference on Jewish Genealogy, August 10-14

Once again, KDRG will host a session at the IAJGS conference in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and participate in the Share Fair. We hope to see some of you there. This year, our session takes place Tuesday, August 12, at 9:45 a.m.

Opportunities to Help

You, our community, continue to support our work through your generosity. Your U.S. tax-deductible contributions help us obtain records for Kremenets-district towns and have them translated. Please consider making a contribution to the Kremenets Towns account via JRI Poland (see below). A donation of any size gives you access to all of our translations.

Or consider contributing by volunteering. A particular need now is for someone to help Kremenets-district researchers who come to us with questions about our resources. If you can take on this role (or part of this role), please send an email to KremenetsDRG@gmail.com.
