Introduction

I feel that I had better start this article with a bit of an introduction, in order to explain to you what has promoted me to write it. As you all probably know, I have always been interested in history, particularly Jewish history, and of course family history-genealogy. During the past ten years I have researched the places in Eastern Europe, where our family originated, and written articles¹ about them. When I was a young girl I used to enjoy hearing the stories that my Maternal Grandparents told about their past, and afterwards the little tidbits that my Mother unintentionally (?) added on. At a certain time, I understood that it was my Grandmother who kept the family together. Then, later on, I understood that it was my Mother who had done this. She was even capable of doing so, by way of letters, after my parents came on Aliyah². Now, I feel that the time has come for me to write up everything that I know about our family. As a student of history, I cannot say that our family is/was a great or important family. The only really important person from our family was my Grandmother's brother, the British Jewish author Louis Golding; but I think that today there are quite a few important people in our family. All I can say is that this family is important to me, because it is my family.

At first I had no idea of how to organize this article. I simply did not know where to start. Then, per chance a friend of ours, Dr. Ida Selavan Schwarcz, about in article that she had written about her Mother. After reading her wonderful article, which gave much honor to her Mother and her family, I had an idea of how I should build this article.³

When I first began to think about writing this article I wrote all the cousins who I am in contact with to ask for information. I thank all of you who so kindly sent information. I also must specially thank our cousin JuddE. Posner⁴, who made a "Family Tree",⁵ quite a few years ago. His Mother, Nettie Posner, also had a wealth of family information in her head and past it on, with love, to him. It is quite interesting to see the continuation of private names in the family, as they proceed on this "Tree".

Due to my email correspondence with cousin Janine Botty, I decided to add photographs. I enjoyed looking through old albums to find appropriate ones. I enjoyed even more so, how so many of you sent me old and new photographs of your family. I thank you all so much for your cooperation.

⁵ If you are interested in a copy of the "Family Tree", I will be happy to forward it on.

My correspondence with cousins Diane Pomerantz, Valerie Rosenhoch and Jack and Danny Marcus caused them to find a few documents. Therefore, I decided to add these documents.

Per chance, I acquired quite a bit of information⁶ about Jack Golding, my Grandmother's youngest brother who was killed, as a British soldier in World War I. Therefore I feel good that I have done something for his memory and have decided to also dedicate this article to his memory.

I have much interesting (and perhaps useful) information in the footnotes, so I really suggest that you read them. One of the reasons that I did so, is because Martin Golding once told me that sometimes he reads only footnotes⁷.

Please understand that this article is about my family, the family that I know and love. What I write is what I know and what I feel. This is not a real historical document; but it is a composition about my family as seen through my eyes.

I beg your pardon if I have written something that you do not agree with. Please contact me and I will change it.

I have used as many biography references as possible from the internet; for I think that this may make it easier for you to refer to them, than would I use books that you may not have easy access to.

I will now start to tell you about the background of the family; beginning as far back as I can, according to the information that I have acquired from others, or that I myself remember hearing...

Thank you for reading this.

Golding Family Background

I am beginning with the history of the Golding Family for I have much information about this thanks to JuddE's "Family Tree".

My Mother's Great-great Grandparents were Yehuda Reyentowitz and Necha Tsirilstein. Their oldest son Monash Reyentowitz (@1825-1914) married Rachel.

They had a daughter Necha⁸ Reyentowitz who was married to Philip Golding⁹. He was a struggling magid (teacher of Jewish subjects)¹⁰, a teacher and lecturer and a very religious man.¹¹ He was a very strict person and pretty harsh to the children.¹² Yiddish was the family language. The family lived in Cherkassy. It is quite possible that the family also lived previously in Cherkassy¹³, Ukraine.

Necha Reyentowitz died in about 1890, when my Grandmother was about 8 years old. When I asked her about her Mother, she told me about a Passover, which they wanted to celebrate in the traditional way; but were forced to do otherwise. They all had to stay in their house and be sure to be under the window level. The windows and/ or shutters (or whatever they had, had to be closed). I asked her if she couldn't run outside to tell something to a girlfriend. She looked at me, as if to say that it was obvious that I could not understand, and said that it seemed impossible for her to cause me to understand what had happened. I asked what about their Sedarim¹⁴. She said that what was important was to stay alive, that they lived through their own "Exodus from Egypt". Therefore I think that this was evidently a pogrom, and was when her Mother was killed.

Her Father¹⁵ remarried to a woman whose name was Etta^{16, 17}. Etta had 2 daughters, who were about the age of my Grandmother. The children were all brought up together and related to each other as siblings. My contact and feelings towards Lena's Grandchildren are the same as to all of my other cousins. I was probably a teenager when I understood that not all of my relatives were actually blood-relatives.

The family immigrated to Manchester¹⁸, England in about 185. They brought their samovar¹⁹, candlesticks, wine cups,²⁰ and bedding with them from Cherkassy^{21, 22}. They settled in the Cheetham Hill area, in Redbank.²³ Soon afterwards they moved to Strangeways.²⁴ At one time it was hard for me to believe; but when the family came to England, they could have been classified as poor simple Jewish people²⁵ (I thought of my family as very special Jewish people.) My cousin Jackie once wrote an article about his Father's family. He wrote this as background material. I didn't want to accept it as the truth. However, I know from one of Uncle Louis' books, and from hearing this from my Mother, that there was a time that they took in washing to make a living.

Necha and Philip Golding had 3 children:

Julius- Jewish name- Judah (1878-1932). He married Annie Shimm²⁶ in 1902. She was his mother's cousin. He came with the family to England, in about 1895²⁷. He stayed there for a short time- about a few years. Then he went to the USA at about the turn of the century. He married Annie Shimm²⁸ in New York in 1902. He worked as a furrier.²⁹ They lived in Far Rockaway, New York. They had 4 children:

1. Annette³⁰ (Nettie) Golding (1903-1983) married Murray Posner³¹ (1902-1970) in 1929. They lived in a very nice apartment house, which was situated in a garden in Far Rockaway.³² They had 2 children:

1) Charlotte Lucille (1930) married (George) David Hirshfeld in 1950. They have 2 daughters:

1-Ann Beth (1954) married Mitchell Bruce Levine (1952) in 1977.

They have 1 daughter:

1, Amy Frances (1984)

2- Susan Rita (1958) married Ernest John Alvino (1953) in 1983.

2) Judd Edward [JuddE] (1938) He received a good Jewish education. He worked with people with hearing problems for many years. He was into folk dancing. He made the fabulous "Family Tree", which so many family members have so much enjoyed, and which .has helped me so much in this article.³³

2. Sidney Golding (1905-1957³⁴) married Mildred Lewis (1908-1996) in 1929. They had 2 children:

1) Martin Golding³⁵ (1930) married Naomi Holtzman³⁶ (1930). Martin is Professor of Jurist Prudence. He taught at Columbia University; but left there, due to the student rioting³⁷ and John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York City. He then moved to Duke University³⁸. He lectures all over the world. He and his family spent a year in Israel³⁹. He is a religious man. They have 3 children:

1- Shulamith (1956) married Jonathan Klein. They live in Atlanta, Georgia. She is the Chief Risk Officer for Emory University and Emory

²⁷ This can be understood for Abey was born in Cherkassy in 1903, and came to England at he age of 14 months; and Louis was born in Manchester in 1895. See: The Golding Family, p.

²⁸ Annie Shimm (1880-1952 [New York]) Here is what JRC wrote about her Grandmother "As far as Grandma Annie, I was 10 when she passed away. She lived with us in Clintondale for many years, but I was really too young to realize the stories and facts would one day be so important. She was the sweetest and most loving grandmother anyone could ever have, I still miss her. All I really know that while Grandpa Julius was alive they lived in Far Rockaway, NY. I do know that Grandma Annie died from a melanoma (a malignant tumor www.cancer.gov/cancertopics/wyntk/skin/page1) on the bottom of her foot. JRC- 2/5/11

⁴⁶ The entire family spent a year in Israel in 2009, and lived in Jerusalem. Their son Rafi was then in grade 12 in the Yeshiva in Chicago. Therefore he finished high school there. He was with them for vacations and afterwards spent over a year in Yeshivat Hakotel (www.hakotel.org.il/) in Jerusalem. Their daughter Rivka made many friends here and returned last summer to spend the summer here with her friends. Ayala's parents and sister live here. We enjoyed having them here and hope that they will return to live here. The Jewish education is weak in Louisville, and there is no Jewish high school there. Now Rivka is living with Belinda so that she can attend a Jewish high school in the New York area. Next year Sam will attend the Yeshiva in Chicago. This year (2010-11) Sam has had home schooling for he was the only student in his eighth grade class.

⁵⁸ According to JuddE's "Family Tree" Edith was older than Sarah; but according to my Mother Sarah was older. I understand that Sarah was born in @1980. My memory Perhaps the "6" in 1886 should be a "0"?

⁵⁹ She would write to her sister Edith in America in the English language, but in Hebrew (Yiddish) characters. She wrote, as did many Jews of her time, connecting all of the consonants. As she grew older, her handwriting deteriorated. When my grandmother was old and sick she could not manage to read her sister's letters. At this time, and after she died only my Father (Oscar Herschman) was able to decipher them. He would read them aloud to his Mother-in-Law and anyone else who was interested. He was born in America; but knew Yiddish quite well. I believe he used his educational powers to do so. She was not told of my Grandmother's death and my Mother continued to write her in English. Her son Shmully, who spent a good of his life caring for his Mother, realized that something was

Sarah's children: (This is the English part of our Family.⁶⁰)

1. Nettie Goldstone (1905- 1957) married X and lived in Manchester. Nettie evidently was a counselor for Jewish children from Germany who came to England during WWII⁶¹.

2. Sonny Goldstone(1907- dec) married X and lived in Ireland.

3. Sidney (Shmully) Goldstone (1908- 1980) married Phyllis and lived in Manchester.

Shmully and Phyllis married late for they both took care of elderly parents. They came to Israel a few times and my parents enjoyed being together with them. My Mother said that Louis, Shmully and Martin Golding were the smartest people of their respective generations in our family.

4. Norman (Nachum)⁶² (1917- dec) married Edith (- 1982) who was from Scotland.

Nachum was a doctor and worked in the socialized medicine program. They had 3 children:

1) Iris Rochelle (@1943-8/10/2001⁶³) married David Gould in 1968⁶⁴. They lived in Sale, Cheshire. Iris had cancer and was very active in the Cancer Care Organization in England.⁶⁵They had 2 children:

She married Zacharia Marcus⁶⁸ at about the beginning of the twentieth century. They lived on Sycamore Street, in Manchester. They had 4 children:

⁶⁰ My Mother kept up a strong contact with her English Family; particularly with Shmully and Phyllis. I am sorry; but after she died we seem to have lost contact. During the past few years I have met people who knew them, or were willing to help me locate them. I was given their addresses; and have written; but to no avail. We did have contact with David Gould. He even sent me a photograph of Sarah and her children. The first time I looked at it, I was sure that he had sent me a picture of my Uncle Lionel and my Uncle Norman. 1. Nettie D. -Necha⁶⁹ D⁷⁰vash (1907-1991) married Oscar Herschman⁷¹ (1903-1987) in 1938. She was born in Manchester⁷² and came to America by herself⁷³. My Mother worked for a while as a statistical typist. She enjoyed hearing lectures; particularly on Jewish/ Zionist subjects. She attended many college courses, before she was married. My Father was an economist by vocation. They had 1 daughter: (This is me)

1) Esther Anne⁷⁴ (1944-) married Mordechai Rechtschafner⁷⁵ (1941-) in 1965. We live in Israel⁷⁶. I now work as a librarian /archivist. I worked for over 22 years as house-mother at Yeshivat HaKibbutz HaDat⁷⁷.i. We have 3 daughters:

1-Idit Meira⁷⁸ (1968-) married Jacob (Koby) Inegram in 1990. Idit has a BA in Informal and Special Education and a Teacher's license from Bar Ilan University⁷⁹. Masters' degree in Jewish education from Touro Unniversity⁸⁰, Jerusalem. She works as a teacher. Koby has a BS degree in computer-electricity from Ariel University⁸¹ and Bar Ilan (Zemach branch). They now live in Katzrin⁸², Ramat HaGolan⁸³. They have 7 children:

- 1, Avital Neta⁸⁴ (1994)
- 2, Yael Shoshana⁸⁵ (1995)

⁶⁹ Note on "Family Tree" how the name Necha repeats itself.

⁷⁰ My Mother said that this name was never translated or transliterated into English. Therefore she was seriously thinking of calling herself DESTIMONA (Shakespeare: Othello- answers.yahoo.com/question/index?qid). She usually signed with the letter D. My memory

⁷¹ Oscar had a degree in economics. He was often described as a scholar. See my article about my Father: The Story of Oscar Herschman and his Family http://www.shtetlinks.jewishgen.org/Vitsyebks/family_stories_scroll_down H\(G\)erschman scroll down The Story of Oscar Herschman and his Family 23 ppserschman_scroll_down_The_Story_of_Oscar_Herschman_and_his_Family_23_pps)

⁷² She attended Harper Hay High School, and was very proud of this fact. She saved the blazer from the school for a very long time and would have liked me to wear it to school. She simultaneously went to a Hebrew-Jewish school. She learned a lot there. When she came to NY, she corresponded with her siblings in Hebrew. I still have a few of these letters. My memory.

⁷³ Nettie Marcus, age 17, occupation or calling: in school, arrived Nov. 11, 1924, on the same ship, the Scythia, from Liverpool. She is described as a "British national." Her nearest relative was her mother, Mrs. Marcus, residing on Sycamore St. in Hightown, Manchester. She was 5-2, had dark complexion, brown hair, and blue eyes. Her destination in the U.S. was to join her father, Zacharia Marcus, at 180 Beach 64th St., Arverne. LL- 5/9/2008

⁷⁴ I am named after my Paternal Grandmother. Her name was ESTHER. She was once very very sick and as the custom was, the name Chia (life) was added to her name. Therefore she became Chia-Esther and that is my name. The Chia was translated into English as ANNE in her case, and therefore also in my case. My Mother had an Aunt Anna (her father's youngest sister Anna) who died when she was young. (See Marcus Family Background; p.) Therefore my Mother liked to think that the Anne was also after her. My parents liked to call me by both names; but I did not like that. I still have some cousins who refer to me that way. It was hard enough going through public school with an uncommon and very Jewish name. Now I live in a place where there are 7 women with the name ESTHER.

⁷⁵ Mordechai I was born in Lyon, France. His family (parents [originally from Lvov and the neighboring town let of Sokal, Ukraine], 1 older brother and 2 older sisters) had fled from Belgium at the beginning of WWII. When he was baby they fled to Switzerland by way of the mountains. After the War they returned to Belgium; and in 1951 immigrated to Melbourne Australia. He came on Aliyah as a participant in the Bnei Akiva Hahshara program in 1961. Afterwards he joined the Machal branch (www.mahal-idf-volunteers.org/) of the Israeli army; where he served as a paratrooper. He served in the 6-Day War. See my article: The RECHTSCHAFNER Family (844MB).

⁷⁸ Idit is named after my maternal grandmother Edith and my father's brother Meir. A short while before my grandmother died, I was in the room where she was lying in bed. It was obvious that she knew she was going to die. She said that she wondered if they would have anyone named after them. Then she looked in my direction and said "this one will, she will not forget us" Then I knew that I had to some day have a daughter and to name her after my grandmother. Then she turned to her daughter Fagie (Frances) and said to her that she should take her wedding ring and save it for me; for as the oldest grand daughter it would some day belong to me. My aunt came to our wedding and brought the ring with her. I also received her engagement ring, since I was the first Grand daughter to get married. Then my grandfather remarked that Jackie would get his Shabbat (gold) watch, which was on a chain so that it could be kept in a special pocket. My memory. My father's brother Meir was killed in an automobile accident, when he was about 15 years old. ⁸⁴ Avital Neta is named after my Mother (Z"l) Nettie. Had she been named Neta –the daughter of Idit, then her name would have been the same as my Mother's, the name that appears on her gravestone. I think that this would have been too hard on Idit; for after my Mother died and she saw the name Idit there, it was hard for her. My memory

⁸⁵ Yael Shoshana is named after Mordechai's Mother Sosha Dina. Yael wrote a composition about her Great-grandmother Sosha, who lived through the Holocaust for her Bat Mitzvah project. So far, 3 of her siblings have used this article (which is based on my article [the Rechtschafner Family; see Introduction]. Avital is currently using it for

2- Ayelet Fruma⁹¹ (1971) married Zachary⁹² Prigozin (1961) in 1998. Ayelet has a BS and a Masters⁹³ Degree in nursing from Hadassah Medical School⁹⁴, and currently works in a diabetic infirmary in Jerusalem. She lectures in Sharei Zedek Nursing School⁹⁵ and Hadassah Medical School. Zachary is a licensed doctor from Russia. He now works as a male dialysis nurse Sharei Zedek Hospital⁹⁶. They now live in Zur Hadassah⁹⁷. They have 3 sons:

- 1, Daniel Asher⁹⁸ (1999)
- 2, Yonatan-Yoni⁹⁹ (2001)
- 3, Asaf¹⁰⁰ (2008)

3- Doria Zippora¹⁰¹ (1980) married Moty Ivgy¹⁰² (1966) in 2006. Doria has a BA in Jewish Philosophy and Art History and a Teachers license from the Hebrew University¹⁰³ in Jerusalem¹⁰⁴. She now works in the Ariel University. Moty has a Yeshiva education. He now has his own catering business. They now live in Nofim¹⁰⁵, which is a suburb of Karnei Shomron¹⁰⁶.

her project for her trip to Poland –the Concentration Camps this coming summer-2011. Yonaton wrote about Mordechai's Father for his Bar Mitzvah project. Renat is currently using it for various Bat Mitzvah projects.

⁸⁶ Yonaton Aryeh is named after Mordechai's Father Yitzchak (Ignus) Aryeh, He was born on the day that Mordechai got up from the shiva on his Father, He got up and went to the hospital; since one of Koby's brothers is also called Yitzchak, this could not be his first name. Yonaton is very fitting for it means – given by G-d.

⁸⁸ Zuria's middle name is "Shir". Idit chose this name for it contains the Hebrew letters of my father's name (Asher)

⁸⁹ Tehila Rivka has a very special name. The story is as follows: I had a very good friend-Riva Pinx Lutfi. She died in 2002. Our daughters felt to her almost as an aunt. When Tehila was born it was Koby's idea to name her after Riva. Therefore they had a middle name. They looked for a first name to be an adjective for the name Rivka. They picked the name Tehila (It means Psalm /praise).

⁹⁰ I asked Koby to please name her after my Uncle Lionel. He loved this country so much and he so deserved to have an Israeli baby, who would be getting a proper Jewish education named after him. The Hebrew letters of the name Ori contain the Hebrew letters of the name Areh (My Uncle Lionel's Hebrew name). It means light and sometimes a derivation of this word is used as a name that is in memory of a dear one.

⁹¹ Ayelet is named after my paternal grandfather whose Hebrew name was Zvi, and a good friend of mine Frumie (Obermeister) Lipshitz, who died of cancer at the age of 27 and after coming on Aliyah. She was married, and the mother of 4 children. I am still in contact with them. My Father told a bit about his family to my Mother after Ayelet was given her name. He had never told so much previously. My memory.

⁹² Zachary /Zacharia) is not a very common name in Ashkenazi Jewry. When Ayelet and Zachary decided to get married, we had him ask his Grandmother where the family was originally from, for we thought that it might be possible that there was a family connection.

⁹³ She specialized in cancer research. She now works in an infirmary in Jerusalem.

⁹⁹ Even before his Brit, his parents decided that he would be called Yoni. Yonaton is a name for his Brit was on Chanuka, and Yonaton was one of Judah Macabee's brothers. It is also similar in meaning to the name of Zachary's maternal grandfather Matityhu. Zachary's maternal grandmother, Mara, (Bula [the name Zachary called her when he was young]) lived with them almost until she died.

¹⁰¹ Doria Zippora is named after my grandfather Zacharia, who I loved so very much. Since there is no feminine of the name Zacharia (the meaning is G-d remembered), we decided that Doria would be a proper extension of the meaning of his name. We understood that G-d remembered us, and gave us a present. The meaning of Doria is a Present from G-d The name Zippora was the Habrew name of my aunt Frances.

2. Lionel (1909-1999¹⁰⁷) married Jeanette Salkin (1912-1994) in 1944. Lionel served in the USA air force during WWII. He had¹⁰⁸ had a prestigious office job in Manhattan. Jeanette worked many years as an assistant kindergarten teacher.¹⁰⁹ They visited us in Israel a few times.¹¹⁰ They had 2 children:

1) Marcia Elaine (1946) married Lonny Partridge (1945) in 1968. Marcia works as a speech therapist. Lonny is now retired; but worked a high-school teacher in NYC public education. They have 2 children:

1- Allison (1972) married James in 2005. Allison works in cosmetics.

They have one son:

1, Colin Leo¹¹¹ - (2008)

2- Jonathan (1978) Jonathan works as a television producer.

2) Mark Phillip (1951-) married Diane Lagenegro (1950) in 1979. He visited Israel when he was a young man.¹¹² He studied medicine in Italy.¹¹³ They have 1 daughter:

1- Stephanie Jennel (1986)

3. Norman –Chemi (1911-1986)¹¹⁴ married Rose Hochberg (1912-2003). They had a store for women's apparel in Mount Vernon¹¹⁵, New York. They visited Israel a few times.¹¹⁶ They had 2 sons:

1) Jack David Marcus¹¹⁷ (1942) married Sylvia Smolenski. They divorced. They lived in Manhattan, and Jackie still lives there. He worked in public health. He visited Israel a few times¹¹⁸. They had 2 children:

1- Jessica Fay¹¹⁹ (1980) married Justin Gallagher¹²⁰ on June 27, 2009. They have 1 son:

1, Ian Joseph (2011)

2- Adam¹²¹ Zachary¹²² (1982) married Brittany Kohn (2011)

2) Daniel Lewis (1946) married Basya Baenboim¹²³. They have 3 children:

1, Michele Edith¹²⁴ (1985)

¹⁰⁷ "One Lionel Marcus, born May 5, 1909, SSN (social security number) in NY State, died June 26, 1997, in Franklin Square, Nassau County, NY. LL- 8/52008." This information is from The Social Security Death Index (SSDI) on the internet (www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/cgi-bin/ssdi.cgi)

¹⁰⁸ Lionel did not have a high-school diploma, for he came to America at about the time he should have been finishing high-school. He was a self educated man. He served in the US army in the Far East in WWII. He was afraid that he might lose his job, when younger people with college degrees came into his firm. He feared that the firm might come to the conclusion that he was not needed. For that reason, he got permission from a Rabbi, when he was sitting Shiva on his Mother Edith, to go in to work part of the last 3 days of the Shiva and then return to sit Shiva with his Father and siblings'.

¹⁰⁹ The children loved her very much. Those of them, who happened to meet with her years after she was their teacher, were always quite happy to see her.

¹¹⁰ The first time they came, was when Idit was a baby. Uncle Lionel was standing outside our house with Idit in his arms. I overheard what he said to her "little baby, I am your great Uncle. I came 7000 miles to see you. You have my Mother's name!"

¹¹¹ Colin makes his Grandmother so very happy; and this in turn makes me very happy. He is also named after his grandfather Lionel.

¹¹² He stayed a while with my parents. He was a bit sick and my parents called a doctor for him, and took care of him as if he was a baby. My memory.

¹¹³ He was then thinking of being a doctor or a veterinarian. He became a European university student for a while and was very happy in the University life. I think he would have gone on being a university student/scholar for almost ever. After a while, his parents had him return to the USA to finish his studies.

¹¹⁴ One Norman Marcus, born Nov. 30, 1911, got his SSN in NY State, died Sept. 1986 in Palm Beach, FL. LL- 8/52008." This information is from The Social Security Death Index (SSDI) on the internet (www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/cgi-bin/ssdi.cgi)

¹¹⁵ en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mount_Vernon,_New_York; They lived there, as did Rose's entire family.

¹¹⁶ They were the first ones of our family to come here. My memory

¹¹⁷ My Uncle Norman made up a song "Jackie and his Daddy on the Whitestone Bridge". Quite a few years later, he explained to my Mother and me why he did so. He said that when he drove to Brooklyn to visit his parents with Jackie in the car, he would be terribly scared that Jackie would open up the door of the car, while riding over the Whitestone Bridge, and fall into the water. He thought that by singing with him. Jackie would not think of doing such a thing. My memory.

¹¹⁸ Jackie was once a leader of a Bnei Brith (bnaibrith.org/) group that came to visit Israel. My memory

¹¹⁹ She is named after our Aunt Frances (Fagel/Fagie). Jackie nicknamed her "Fuff". They were very attached to each other. It was quite clear to me that he would name his daughter after her.

¹²⁰ He is an artistic photographer.

¹²¹ Adam participated in a youth program in Israel in the summer of 1997. My daughter Ayelet and I spent some time with him. His counselor asked who we were. He replied that we were "distant" relatives. I corrected him saying that there is a physical distance between us; but I feel that we are close relatives.

¹²² He is named after our Grandfather Zacharia. Thus, Jackie carried out our grandparents wish.

¹²³ Basya had 2 children by a previous marriage: Howie and Lisa. All 5 children are treated as equal by Danny and Basya.

2, Sharon Nettie¹²⁵ (1986)
 3, David Norman¹²⁶ (1988)
 4. Frances –Fagel¹²⁷ (1917-1973¹²⁸) married Joe Gross¹²⁹ (-1998) in 1954. At first they lived in Manhattan¹³⁰, in an apartment hotel on Central Park West¹³¹, and afterwards in Jersey City¹³². She worked as a secretary in Manhattan. Her nephews and nieces loved her very much.¹³³ She had great influence¹³⁴ upon her parents; since she got married late, and lived with her parents in "the House"¹³⁵ until her wedding. She was a very good student¹³⁶, very attractive¹³⁷, and liked art work. She was always a Religious Zionist¹³⁸. They visited Israel a few times.¹³⁹

Etta had 2 daughters from her previous marriage:

Janie: 1881-@1948) She was born in Cherkassy¹⁴⁰. She married Mr. Shorr and lived in England; but came to the USA together with her sister Lena¹⁴¹. She was very sickly. Her husband evidently died in England. They did not have any children.¹⁴² She died in the 1930's or -40's.¹⁴³ She was a very good friend of Annie Wintrob.¹⁴⁴

Lena (1891-1954): She was born in Cherkassy. She married Harry Sagar¹⁴⁵ in England. He immigrated to the USA, where he apparently had family. He died in 1918 and was buried in Philadelphia.¹⁴⁶ The family was very poor¹⁴⁷. Harry eventually left the family¹⁴⁸; for it was

¹²⁶ He is named after Danny's Father Norman.

¹²⁷ She was named after her Paternal Grandmother. Variations of this name appear in the Marcus Family

¹²⁸ She died of cancer at the young age of 53. She suffered very much before she died. My parents were already living in Israel, and my Mother thought of possibly making a trip to be with her. My memory.

¹²⁹ He was from a religious Jewish Family, which had settled in Jersey City. They were originally Galutziana (en.wikipedia.org/.../History_of_the_Jews_in_Galicia) Jews. The family owned and ran a Tavern and had to keep it open on Shabbat. The women of the family were there on Saturday mornings, when the men went to pray. Joe's Mother would sweep the money from the counter with her apron, and into a box; for she did not want to touch it on Shabbat. (I remember hearing the story) My Memory.

¹³⁴ She had her room refurnished and therefore the entire apartment underwent a major change. She told my grandmother what kinds of new foods she should prepare (eggplant, and avocado), and told my Grandparents what television programs they should be sure to watch. My memory

¹³⁵ This is what my Grandparents home was called by the immediate family.

¹³⁶ She attended Far Rockaway High-School after the family came to the USA. She won a scholarship to Vassar College (www.vassar.edu); but she could not accept it because of the additional expenses it would have caused her parents. She won a French medal. I still have it. My memory

¹³⁷ Edgar Simon wrote me a while ago that he and Gilbert referred to her as a "sex symbol".

¹³⁸ She made a trip to Israel with her husband. He was also here after she died. She was a member and then a leader in Junior Hadassah (www.zionism-israel.com/dic/Hadassah.htm). She attended many lessons in the Hebrew language. One of her Hebrew teachers (Mrs. Evelyn Sussman) was very proud of her as a student in her Adult Hebrew Class. My memory.

1) Leslie (1946-1988) married Diane in 1973. He was a bright and precocious boy who was very active. He had a fair share of problems but was a very talented photographer. They had 1 daughter:

1- Lisa (b.1974) She attended the University of Colorado at Boulder. She now lives in NYC where she owns a very successful music travel business.

2) Diane (Dede) (b.1948) She was married briefly to Gary Weiss, and afterwards to Myron Brenner in 1982, in Baltimore. She graduated from Hunter College²¹¹ in NYC in 1970; and she received her MA from the New School for Social Research in 1973.

²⁰³ Abe was an extremely sensitive man and did not hide his sensitive feelings; so he shared his tears as well as his laughter throughout his life. He was very, very close and attached to his brother Louis throughout his entire life. He thought of him as a celebrity. They went awol (disappeared from army duty) from the army during WWI. In Manchester he was a tailor and a dry goods salesman. He always had the appearance very "dapper" little Englishman. His shoes were always shined, his suits pressed, he was adorable (also my memory). The depression was difficult for them financially. It is possible that by then they had moved to Brooklyn. Louis suggested that he return to England to find work. So in late 1936, Abe, Ginny and Philip went back to London and lived with Louis. Abe began to establish himself there. Rita remained in Brooklyn, living with her maternal grandparents while she finished high school. The family remained in London and lived in Louis' home for about a year. Rita had her passage booked to return to England when Louis became fearful about Hitler's growing power and insisted that they return to the U.S. Rita therefore never made the trip to England and the family re-established themselves in New York. Ginny made wonderful coats for Rita and later re-did them for her Granddaughter Dede; who still has a couple of coats and capes that she made. If Dede was sick, he would sit and hold her hand and talk to her... as you can tell, she loved her grandparents very, very much! DP- 6/2/11.

²⁰⁴ The date is February 25, 1965 according to his Granddaughter Diane Pomerantz, who has his "death certificate" in her possession and has checked it for me. DP- 4/5/11. According to JuddE's "Family Tree" he died in 1962. As far as my memory goes he was alive until about at least 1965. When Mordechai and I decided that we would marry, he told me that he had an aunt in Brooklyn who lived at 2025 Ocean Avenue.. I was shocked and told him that I had a Great Uncle and Aunt who lived at 2055 Ocean Avenue. They had back windows that faced each other but didn't know each other. Anyway, they all met with my parents in Uncle Abe and Auntie Ginny's house. It is as if Auntie Ginny made us an "engagement party". This took place in the autumn of 1964. Mordechai and I were not present, for we lived already in Israel. My memory

²⁰⁶ Her sister, Ada Gustav, was married to Nat Hut. He was a cousin of my Grandmother, Edith. See JuddE's "Family Tree". Ginny Gustav Golding was born in Manchester in 1895 (?). She was the second of 6 children, the oldest having been born in Russia. Her Mother died at the age of 96.²⁰⁶ She lived on Bloomsbury Road, which was similar to "Magnolia Street²⁰⁶,"(Christian on one side and Jewish on the other).

²⁰⁷ Throughout the years Uncle Abe's family had contact with the Marcus and Sager families. Janine and Rick Sager were close to Dede's age; so whenever they were in Brooklyn they would get together, and she felt particularly close with them. When they were young, people would think that Janine and she were sisters because at that time they looked so much alike (Diane wishes she looked like her now!) Valerie Sager, though, was really her friend as she grew up. They spent a great deal of time together, especially as teenagers. DP- 6/2/11

²⁰⁸ Rita went to business school after high school and she got a job. She helped her parents financially. She was an excellent student and artist; but did not receive the support from her parents, as her brother did in respect to continuing her education.. DP- 6/2/11

²⁰⁹ Rita was born in Manchester. The family immigrated to America when she was 18 months old. There is a bit of a discrepancy about how they came to America. It is possible that Abe came first and lived with the family that was already in Far Rockaway. It seems that aside from Julius Golding, there were also cousins there (my memory). He got a job as a sewing machine operator. Ginny and little Rita came over about 6 months later. There were lots of stories told about Rita, at 18 months, on the passage over. She was quite a rambunctious little girl, and she rode on the vacuum cleaners that the stewards used to clean the carpet. Ginny was always worrying she was going to go overboard. These stories lead to believe that Abe was not on the boat! They lived in Far Rockaway when they arrived in the USA. Rita told stories of how the big cousins played with her. Apparently these were the children of Julius Golding. DP thinks that these children may have been Lionel and Norman (the children of Edith and Zacharia Marcus), but they came to America in about 1924. Ginny's family (parents and siblings) came shortly afterwards. DP- 6/2/11

²¹⁰ . Rita met Martin Pomerantz in 1940. Ginny loved Martin and according to Rita "I didn't have a choice." Before they met, Martin had won the golden gloves for boxing in 1935 and was deciding whether to box professionally. Rita did not want him to and so that was it. Martin was a great athlete and so when he was in the service had a pretty cushy job. He was the calisthenics instructor and spent four years on Miami Beach. DP- 6/2/11

Then she left for California. She received her Ph.D. in Psychology in 1980. She then moved to Baltimore to do her Post doctorate. She is now divorced. They have 2 children:

1- Jane Aviv (1988)

2- Dan (1991)

2. Philip Golding (1927²¹²) married Joyce Charlip in 1954. Philip started college at City College but after one semester he joined the Navy in WWII. It is not clear what exactly he did then; but he did see the world. He finished college when he returned and then was called back to duty and went to Korea. When he returned he became a CPA and worked for New York State for many years. They had 2 children:

1) Laurence (Larry) (1957) married Tina. They divorced. Uncle Louis' last book, Little Old Admiral, was dedicated to Larry.

2) Elisabeth-Beth (1959)

Louis- (1895- 1958²¹³) He was already born in Manchester²¹⁴, England. He was a British writer, very famous²¹⁵ in his time especially for his novels²¹⁶, though he is now largely neglected. He also wrote short stories, essays, fantasies, travel books and poetry. He showed talent in writing from when he was a young boy²¹⁷. He did not get along well with his Father.²¹⁸ He was a good friend of Maurice Samuel.²¹⁹ His novel *Magnolia Street*²²⁰ was a bestseller of 1932.²²¹ He traveled the world.²²² He was invited to many important places. He was once invited by the Queen.²²³ He married his childhood friend, Annie Wintrobe²²⁴.

²¹² He was born in New York. He was an excellent student. His parents wanted him to continue with his education. DP- 6/2/11

²¹³ He died in London. (<http://www.eb.com/>) In my opinion, he had a very impressive address: 16 Hamilton Terrace.

²¹⁴ In the Redbank neighborhood, not far from Victoria station, which was in the center of the city. WK

²¹⁵ Louis Golding was the successor of Israel Zangwill (<http://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/jsource/biography/zangwi.>), as the leading Anglo-Jewish novelist. He also wrote successful novels on non-Jewish themes; and therefore was described as a popular novelist. He was never quite in the same class of Jewish novelists such as his American contemporaries Daniel Fuchs, Meyer Levin, and Isaac Rosenfeld. He used his Manchester background (as 'Doomington') and Jewish themes in his novels, the first of which was published while he was still an undergraduate. He is now best remembered for his Doomington novels, Doomington being his fictional name for his home town of Manchester. en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Louis_Golding. Further information about Louis Golding can be found at this website and at other websites. His novel Magnolia Street was a bestseller of 1932; it is based on the Hightown area of Manchester, as it was in the 1920s. It takes place on a street divided into 'gentile' and 'Jewish' sides. It was a 1939 play for Charles B. Cochran in an adaptation by Golding and A. E. Rawlinson, and was also filmed as Magnolia Street Story. Films were made of a few of his books.

²¹⁶ See Appendix-1 Louis Golding's Writings; Pps.

²¹⁷ He was bright enough to win a scholarship to the prestigious Manchester Grammar School (<http://www.mgs.org/>), where he wrote poems, contributed to school magazine, and won literary awards. He started to write when he was quite young and some short stories on Jewish topics were published in the Manchester Guardian (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Guardian) in 1919. He received scholarships to Queen's College, and Oxford in 1914; where he studied history and classics. His studies interrupted by World War I. He was refused entry to Officers' Training Corps; but served briefly as hospital orderly in York, and worked for YMCA in Greece and France. His service was cut short by bout of malaria. Then he returned to Oxford, in 1918; when he edited Queen's College Miscellany.

²¹⁸ He was the son of poor Jewish parents. The family had recently immigrated to England from Cherkassy, Ukraine. He was born in the Jewish slum of Red Bank in the city. As a young boy, he spent a fortnight holiday in Jewish Children's Holiday Home in Deryshire and was quite homesick. His Mother was proud of his early attempts at writing; but his Father was indifferent to it. He moved out of his parents' house, because of quarrels with his Father on the subject of Jewish piety. He went to live with his sister Edie, my Grandparents, on Sycamore Street, in Hightown. This street was different from all the other neighborhood streets because of the strict division between Jews (odd numbered houses) and Gentiles (even numbered houses). This distinction showed importance later on, when he became a writer. WK, p. 4-10

²¹⁹ Maurice Samuel (February 8, 1895 - May 4, 1972) was a Romanian-born British and American novelist, translator and lecturer. He was a Jewish and Zionist intellectual. Most of his work concerns Judaism and the Jew's role in history and modern society, but he also wrote more conventional fiction. He and his work won an acclaim in the Jewish community during his lifetime. (Maurice Samuel also wrote the nonfiction King Mob under the pseudonym "Frank K. Notch.") en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Maurice_Samuel. Mr. Samuel came to visit and because there was no room for him, he had to sleep in the bathtub. My Mother's memory.

²²⁰ According to my Mother, this refers to Sycamore Street- the street where she grew up. According to DP, this refers to Bloomsbury Road, the street where her Grandmother Ginny Golding grew up. DP- 6/2/11

²²¹ Golding's views bridge the cultural gap between eastern European Jewish shtetl life and interwar British society.

On one hand, he was a militant supporter of Jewish/non-Jewish intermarriage, of secular Judaism and religious freedom. At the same time his writing reveals a sustained belief in Jewish 'race' and Jewish spirituality. Golding's writing on 'race' received particular attention. Like so many other British Jews in the period, the author seems to have been caught between his desire to fight the racism of the Third Reich and his own confused 'racial' attitudes. Gavin

Jack- (1899-1918²²⁵) He was also born in Manchester, England. My cousin Jackie (Jack David Marcus) is named after him.

Jack Golding was an English soldier and was killed in battle²²⁶. The British Jewry Book of Honour confirms his service number and date of death as well stating that he was in the 1st and 7th Battalions of the Manchester Regiment. His home address is listed as being 19 Sycamore Street.²²⁷ Apparently this was the address of his sister and brother-in-law: Edith (My Grandmother) and Zacharia Marcus.

He died at Flanders²²⁸ on April 5, 1918. He is buried at Gommecourt Wood New Cemetery Foncquevillers²²⁹. His death was also listed as a Jewish casualty.²³⁰

His army certificates are in Appendix- 2 A.²³¹, ²³²

²²⁵ According to JuddE's "Family Tree" he died in 1917.

²²⁶ Here is the information the battle:

Foncquevillers was in British hands in 1915 and 1916. On July 1, 1916, Gommecourt Wood was attacked by the 46th (North Midland) Division, and the Southern part of the village by the 56th (London) Division. The attack met with temporary success, but could not be sustained; and Gommecourt remained a salient in the German line until the 27th February 1917, when it was evacuated. It was never retaken by the Germans; at the end of their offensive of March 1918 it was just within the British lines. It was later adopted by the County Borough of Wolverhampton. This information was compiled by Harold Pollins.

However he doesn't appear in the list of fallen at the Commonwealth War Graves Commission

²²⁸ Flanders field was the battlefield in Flanders during World War 1. Many British soldiers died there. Now a Memorial Museum is located there. (www.greatwar.co.uk/ypres.../museum-in-flanders-fields.htm) One of those British soldiers wrote a poem: "In Flanders Fields the Poppies Blow..." (wiki.answers.com › ... › War and Military History › World War 1) See Appendix 2 B, p. Because of this poem the poppy became the symbol for the memory of the WAR. The sight of these delicate, vibrant red flowers growing on the shattered ground caught the attention of a Canadian soldier by the name of John McCrae. He noticed how they had sprung up in the disturbed ground of the burials around the artillery position he was in. It was during the warm days of early May 1915 when he found himself with his artillery brigade near to the Ypres-Yser canal. He is believed to have composed a poem following the death of a friend at that time. The first lines of the poem have become some of the most famous lines written in relation to the First World War. (www.greatwar.co.uk/article/remembrance-poppy.htm)

²²⁹ This information about the cemetery was received by RE, in a Personal Communication from Harold Pollins who compiled a list/ database of Jewish soldiers who died in both world wars He told her that this is now in the Jewish Military Museum in London. Foncquevillers is a village about 18 kilometres south-west of Arras on the D3.

Gommecourt Wood New Cemetery is situated a little way south-east along the D6. A CWGC A signpost indicates the road at the junction near the post office in Foncquevillers and the Cemetery is on the right hand side of the road just before arriving at Gommecourt. The cemetery covers an area of 2,690 square meters and is enclosed by a rubble wall (http://www.webmatters.net/cwgc/gommecourt_wd.htm; http://www.cwgc.org/search/cemetery_details.aspx?cemetery=31400&mode=1 There are now nearly 750, 1914-18 war casualties commemorated in this site. Of these, nearly two-thirds are unidentified and special memorials are erected for 10 soldiers from the United Kingdom, known or believed to be buried among them.

Gommecourt Wood New Cemetery was created, after the Armistice, by the concentration of graves from certain smaller burial grounds and from the battlefields of July 1916, March 1917, and March, April and August 1918.

Marcus Family Background

My Grandfather Zacharia Marcus immigrated to Manchester from Sveksna²³³, Lithuania with his family, when he was a young man. Afterwards, members of the family immigrated to Chicago, and my Grandfather to New York. It seems that he and his sister Sarah came first to England.²³⁴ I loved him very much and can honestly say that I still miss him. He told me much about his childhood in Sveksna²³⁵.

After my parents came on Aliyah, my Mother and I sometimes walked down a crowded street in Tel Aviv together and she would remark that she saw someone who looked like my grandfather. When she met Mordechai she remarked that she thought that my Grandfather would have liked him.

He was a religious man, he prayed every day. He taught me the importance of being able to find the place in a Siddur (prayer book) and /or Chumash (Bible) by just listening. He did not like the idea of having pages announced or asking for the page number. I do not believe that he was very educated; but this did not bother me. I remember my Father once remarking that when my Grandfather met with 2 very educated Sveksna people²³⁶ he was happy to be with them; but he had nothing to add to their conversation. He was always a very ardent Zionist. He was very active in the Zionist Organization in and a member of the Zionist Hall^{237, 238}, in Manchester.

Moshe Marcus married Fagel²³⁹. They had 5 children:

1 Zacharia (@1872²⁴⁰-1957) He was born in Sveksna, Lithuania and lived in Manchester, England and then in New York²⁴¹. He married Edith Golding²⁴². They owned a candy store at one time in Manchester.²⁴³ He was carpenter, by trade.

2 Lena (1876²⁴⁴) She was born in Sveksna and immigrated with her family to Manchester. She married Victor Levinson. They lived in Chicago. They had 2 children:

1. Ann Wagner
2. Chester Levinson²⁴⁵

3 Sarah (1881²⁴⁶) She was born in Sveksna and immigrated with her family to Manchester. She married Max Ripkin in Manchester²⁴⁷. They immigrated to Chicago²⁴⁸, USA. They had 4 children:

1. Hyman
2. Louis (Max²⁴⁹)

²³⁵ He told me of the physical beauty of Sveksna and of how well the Jewish community there was organized.

²³⁷ My Mother's memory.

²³⁸ My Mother's memory. He was always a big Zionist. He had much love for the old Zionism and for the new State of Israel. My memory

²³⁹ She died in Manchester England. Most of the family had already immigrated to Chicago and my grandfather to New York, when she died. My Mother's memory

²⁴⁰ My Mother claimed that the date of his birth was constantly changed so that he would not be recruited into the army in Lithuania. My Mother's memory

²⁴¹ Zachariah came to America in 1922 and stayed with Fred Golding. (The J form Julius-Judah probably looked like an F; ESTHER) "I could not believe that he left our grandmother with young children. My dad was only 13." He came with 60 dollars which was a lot of money in those years. He was a second class citizen on the ship-which was good because he had his own cabin. The information is from www.ellisland.org. MP-21/1/11

Zacharia Marcus, age 46, occupation: cabinet maker, arrived in Ellis Island on May 20, 1922 on board the Scythia from Liverpool. His origin was Shvcksky, Russia. He was 5-5, had brown hair and brown eyes. He was going to visit his brother-in-law, Mr. F. Golding at 180 Beach 64th St., Arverne, L.I. LL- 5/9/2008

²⁵² Information about Janie from her grand daughter Anita: "I know that my bubbie never worked, I don't know how her English was or if she knew how to write in English. I believe Jennie came from a religious home, kept Kosher but was not ultra Orthodox as I can tell by their clothing. My Zaydie taught my mother the Hebrew alphabet and she could read a bit. Before marriage she lived at home with her parents in Manchester. I guess the economic background was the same as your grandfathers, growing up. When my grandparents married they were poor. When the depression came things were even worse. My mother told me my bubbie rented her wedding dress. They were never by any means well off. During the depression they rented out a bedroom to a boarder, it seemed as if they lived hand to mouth. My Zaidie was a carpenter ;and I know that when he was out of work my mother left high school after completing a two year course, and got a job to help out. Victor Levinson, was able to get my Zaydie a job with the Chicago Transit Authority ,eventually". AG-13/3/11 For the above reason Vicki, is named after him. My memory ²⁵³. According to Sharon, her name was Ida; but was changed to Janie when she arrived in the USA. SZ- 10/3/11 ²⁵⁴ Anita went to Ellis Island in the spring of 2010. She found documents under the name of Janie Marcus. "I and Howard also found my grandfathers document but the dates did not make sense. According to my mother Ella, her Zaidie arrived first and sent for my bubbie. The documents showed her arriving earlier than him. Maybe there was another Janice Marcus from England!" AG- 2/2/11

My mother told me that my Zaidie who immigrated from Latvia to Manchester and then to Chicago, did not care for American women. He started a correspondence with Janie, and sent for her. My mother said there was a sister (Sarah?) already in Chicago so my bubbie felt that if the relationship between her and my Zaydie didn't work out, she could visit her sister, so the trip would not be for nothing. It did work out. AG- 5/2/2011.

²⁶² This was not his family name. When he arrived in the USA, the customs officer asked him for his name. He gave the name of an American friend; since he did not understand the question. Vicki heard from her Father (and his sisters Ruth and Genevieve) that the family name had been Monas. (She looked this name up in the phonebook when she was a kid.) Her Grandfather changed the name to Schwab because of the idea of being in a new country. The new country equated with acquiring a new name. Her Father guessed (perhaps he was kidding) that his Father had chosen the name Schwab, after the steel tycoon Charles Schwab, to invite prosperity in the new country. VH-23/7/11

²⁹¹ Liane participated in the Young Judea Youth program in Israel in about 1957. She had a serious boy friend in Israel, who was from England. He returned to England and was killed in a traffic accident. The same year her Mother died and her Father Julian married her aunt Ray. This all was hard on her. She returned to Chicago and finished her college education. She spent a year in New-York, before coming on Aliyah. She then worked in the library of the Jewish Theological Seminary (www.jtsa.edu/). She came on Aliyah and lived in Jerusalem and afterwards she lived in Be'er Sheva (en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Beersheba) for she wanted to live in a place where she could feel that she was helping with the development of our country. She worked there for Mekorot (www.mekorot.co.il/eng). She then lived in Tel-Aviv (en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tel_Aviv). She returned to the USA, married and had a son named Itai. My memory

2. Ray-Rachel She married Julius Simon about a year after her sister died. They lived in Chicago.

B. Simon. They also came from Sveksna. They immigrated to Passaic, New Jersey. They were evidently cousins of my Grandfather's.

They had 2 sons: (twins) They now live in Los Angeles, California

1. Edgar (@1920)²⁹². He married Marilyn. He was a lawyer. She makes Jewish artifacts. They have both been hospitalized lately²⁹³. They have 1 son:

)Lowell²⁹⁴

2. Gilbert (@1920) He married Donna.

C. Sharpe. (Harry and Sid [a woman]) They were a married couple who lived in uptown Manhattan. They enjoyed having contact with our family. He had a very special occupation. He was a photographer and owned a pony. We used to travel all over New York City, by subway, with his pony. He would photograph children sitting on the pony. She worked in an office in Manhattan.

²⁹² My Mother kept in contact with Edgar and Gilbert. A while after she died, I happened to notice Edgar's address in her address book. I wrote him and this was the beginning of a wonderful correspondence. He was interested in my research and sent me some family stories from Sveksna. He was interested in my studying Yiddish and put us on the mailing list of the Yiddish Book Center (www.yiddishbookcenter.org/). He and Marilyn sent me interesting newspaper clippings, which were of Jewish interest and they also sent information about Marilyn's artwork, and volunteer work for Hadassah (www.hadassah.org). One very interesting article which he sent me dealt with the question of if old and sick Nazi war criminals should be punished. They are now over 90 years old and very weak. I receive information about them by way of Sharon (SZ). My memory

The Zacharia and Edith Marcus Family²⁹⁵

It is interesting to note that my Grandparents sisters (some are the names of my Grandmother's sister-in-laws) had the same names: Sarah, Lena, Janey-Jenny, Anna.²⁹⁶

My Grandfather Zacharia came first to the USA. Then my Mother Nettie, came. She said that she would go to the beach in Far Rockaway and look at the ocean and say to herself that her Mother was not that far away- just on the a side of the ocean. Then Edith came with Lionel, Norman and Frances²⁹⁷. At first they lived in Far Rockaway. Afterwards, my Grandfather got a job in a carpentry shop²⁹⁸ on Nostrand Avenue corner Pacific Avenue (border of the Crown Heights neighborhood) in Brooklyn, New York so they moved to Brooklyn. They had to be near the Long Island railroad, for my Aunt Frances (Dede) was still attending Far Rockaway High School. They then lived on New York Avenue. Later on they moved to the 961 Lincoln Place apartment. This apartment was in a 2 family house on top of a Bohacks grocery store. This apartment became known to the family as "the house".

This house had a big brown wall with no windows on the ground floor. Neighborhood boys would play hand ball against this wall. Most of them were Catholic and attended St. Gregory's Parochial School²⁹⁹. Through the years, my grandparents suffered a few broken windows. My Grandfather tried to speak to the boys, to their parents, and finally decided to go to the Church. He wore a grey fedora hat. It was obvious that he was Jewish. The reply that he received was "boys will be boys". He took this as an Anti-Semitic reply. His comment was "What should I have expected; the Church is the same her as it was in Sveksna."³⁰⁰

In about 1950 they got a Motorola television. My grandfather liked to watch boxing. One day Frances came into "the house" and said there was going to be a very good movie on one night that week. The movie was the "Caine Mutainy". My Grandparents put up notes for themselves all over the house to remind them to watch the movie. My mother heard about his and remarked that they probably would not understand it at all.³⁰¹

My Grandmother told many stories of when she was a young girl. She told me about how hard they all worked to clean for Passover, She said that she even had to kasher (make it kosher for Passover) her tongue.

She had a hatred and/or fear of the Russian peasants.

When I was a little girl, my Grandmother was once very happy that she found a little box of sunflower seeds in a candy store and bought them for 2 cents. She said she was going to plant them. She knew a neighbor who lived in a private house across the street³⁰² and asked permission to plant them in his garden. I wanted to go with her. She did not allow me to, she explained that he was Russian and did not like Jews. It was difficult for me to understand this concept. She said that I could go with her up to the fence of his house; but must wait outside and not pester her. She spoke to him in a foreign language- Russian. He answered her in the same language; but did not smile at her. He did not seem to be too friendly. I remember what he looked like. He had a big nose and wore a big hat (something like a cowboy hat). She took a jug of water from her house every day (she carried it down the stairs and across the street)

²⁹⁸ When I was quite young, before my grandfather retired, my Mother once took me to visit him at work. I remember the smell of the wood. This smell always brings back fond memories. My Mother once moved the furniture in our apartment. Perhaps her goal was to have an empty place (less than 20 centimeters- 7 inches in length) on one of the walls. She promptly had my Grandfather make us a small table to put there. It was made of black wood and about as high as it was wide. The telephone was then kept on this table. My memory and went to water her sunflower seeds. She succeeded in growing sunflowers like what they had in Cherkassy.³⁰³ She was quite happy.

I also remember that she came to visit us early one Shabbat morning. We lived³⁰⁴ in walking distance from my grandparents. This is about the only time I remember her coming to visit; particularly a spontaneous visit. I was outside playing, and there she was walking up the street. I remember what dress she was wearing. When she approached me she remarked about how nice it was to see all the Chassidim (Ultra-Orthodox Jews) going in their Shabbat dress to pray on this Shabbat morning. She said it was just like in Cherkassy. Even though this was so near her house, she did not see the Chasidim pass by on Shabbat. They had to pass our house on their way from the Albany Ave. projects (apparently to the Bobeve Shul [on Brooklyn Ave./corner Sterling Place], the Lubuvitch Shul [on Eastern Parkway near Kingston Ave.] the Hungarian Shul [on Eastern Parkway near Brooklyn Ave.] or others that were located near our house).

She knew a bit about Jewish subjects. She once explained to me that in her opinion; if we had a Sanhedrin³⁰⁵ today (the early 1950's) we would probably be allowed to use electricity on Shabbat.³⁰⁶ She was a religious woman; but only went to the Synagogue for Yizkor³⁰⁷ and on the High-Holidays. If my memory serves me well, I remember her praying at home from an old Siddur on Shabbatot. She was very Zionistically inclined and would have liked to visit the new State of Israel. Yet, she realized that this was more than a dream. She respected and honored people who had been here. She was very proud that her brother Louis was one of them. She once remarked that she would have liked to live here, in the Jewish State; but she also wanted to be near her immediate family. I think that she could be depicted as the perfect Jewish Grandmother, in regards to appearance, language, and way of life. My Grandparents spoke Yiddish between themselves. I suppose they sometimes spoke it to their children also; however my Mother always said that she could understand this language but could not speak it.

Most of my memories of her are of her cooking in the kitchen or serving food in the dining-room. She was an excellent cook of food from the Jewish cuisine. She spent much time cooking.³⁰⁸ She even made noodles³⁰⁹ by herself. Once my Mother told her that it was possible to buy very very thin noodles. Her answer was "so I'll make them thinner". She made them by rolling the dough out on a cutting-board, cutting them and putting them into the soup-one by one.

She knew how to be strict with her grandchildren, when we made too much noise or too big a mess. Then she would express with a Yiddish phrase. She used to call her grand-daughters (Marcia and myself "gutte meidel" (good girl) and sheine meidel"(pretty girl). One time she referred to me as the good girl. I got angry and said that I wanted to be the pretty one. Her reply was "think and then tell me and yourself which one is better".³¹⁰ She used to get a bit angry when all of us, or some of us Grandchildren were together and we made a lot of noise and a bit of a mess.³¹¹ She loved her entire family very much. She loved her sister Sarah's

³⁰⁶ Until recently, I always thought that this was her own idea. Then, I heard a lecture given by Yoske Achituv (<http://he.wikipedia.org/wiki/יאָסכֶּ אַחִיטוּב>). He made a comment about if there would be a Sanhedrin, there would be discussions and decisions about Halachot (en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Halakha) pertaining to today. I asked him for more information. He wrote that Rabbi Fishman (en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Yehuda_Leib_Maimon) had written an entire book about this subject; fir he did not feel that the Chief Israeli rabbinate that HaRav Kook (en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Abraham_Isaac_Kook) had formed would have the authority to renew Halachot. daughter Nettie very much.³¹² A big picture of her Father and Grandfather (Zeidie Monash and Zeidie Feivel [Philip]) hung in the dining room of "the house". She was very extremely proud of 2 family members:

1. Her brother Louis Golding
2. Her brother Julius' grandson Martin Golding³¹³

My Grandparents were never rich, or well-off people. I feel that they could even be described as from the poorer sector of our people. They worked at various jobs in Manchester. My Grandmother knew how to sew. They had a Singer sewing machine in their house on Lincoln Place. My Grandmother did make a few things for the house. However my Mother and Aunt Frances were into buying and always told her that things could be bought very cheaply.

At one time, in Manchester they owned and operated a candy store. It is possible that they then made at least some of the candies themselves. Part of my Grandmother's cooking included rock-candy with a string running through it, and Ingber (a sweet carrot treat (which was cut into portions on a cutting board)). It seems that they decided to immigrate to America for economic reasons. My mother once was thinking out loud about her parents' economic situation and asked whoever she was talking to "what is better, if they could be self supporting or the fact that they have sons who are doing well and are able to help support them?"

They were a religious family and gave their children a proper religious education. I have the copy of the letter in Hebrew, which my Uncle Norman wrote to my Mother in America before his Bar Mitzvah. He was excited about getting long trousers. My Uncle Lionel told me about his Hebrew teacher. He was very impressed that this man was actually a Rabbi; but was addressed formerly as "Mister".³¹⁴ My Mother had a Hebrew teacher called Mr. Rivlin. He was from the Rivlin³¹⁵ Family and had come from Israel to teach Hebrew in Manchester for a few years. She taught me a few of the songs that he had taught his pupils. My Mother managed to locate 1 of his sons, after my parents came on Aliyah, and the 2 couples became friends.

My grandfather read the Yiddish Newspapers everyday. He kept on changing his mind as to which was better: the "Forward" or the "Tag". Sometimes I saw my Grandmother read them also. She had glasses for reading and for cleaning chickens.³¹⁶

Our Grandparents home "the house" was always a center for our family to meet. This was especially so on Shabbatot and Holidays. My Uncles and families lived out of town and my Aunt did also after her marriage. We lived the closest, about a 10 minute walk. Therefore their house was actually a second home to me. After a certain age, I would go there myself. I would spend summer mornings there for it was cooler than our house. I liked to have my Grandfather's attention. If my grandmother would start to yell at him to help her, I understood (after a short while) that I had to keep myself busy.

When we would get a telegram after 7 PM³¹⁷ we knew it was bad news. These telegrams were usually from the Family in Chicago. The telegrams usually told of a death in the family. Once we got such a telegram with good news: SHARON was to get married.

They began to get older and it was hard for them to walk long distances. Therefore they could not attend Jackie's Bar Mitzvah. The Synagogue was a distance from my Uncle's house. Jackie therefore recorded (at his last rehearsal) the reading of his Parsha (Torah reading for the week of his Bar Mitzvah for them). My Uncle Norman said that this would probably be better than the actual reading. My Mother wrote his Bar Mitzvah speech and or she or Jackie read it to them. I felt so sorry for them to have to stay home by themselves, when the rest of us were altogether. They were evidently married 45 or 50 years and someone suggested making them an anniversary party. My Mother or my Aunt remarked that this would be ridiculous since they barely spoke to each other; except for important things. They understood that this way they argued less.

³¹² My Mother said that she may have even loved her more than she loved her own children. She hadn't seen her since she left England for New York. My Grandmother loved to tell this story. My memory

My Grandfather was hospitalized in the Brooklyn Jewish Hospital³¹⁸. He was very impressed for by what he was served for breakfast- rice puffs and wheat puffs. He asked the nurse to give him a few. He opened up a paper napkin and let me taste one. This was evidently the first time he had tasted dry cereal and the first time he had not eaten pumpernickel (black bread) for his breakfast.

My Grandfather telephoned one evening to say that my Grandmother had evidently fainted. He did not know how to pick her up from the position she was in or move her. My Mother told him that we would be there very soon; but he should ask the Negro neighbors from upstairs to come to his aid for the next minutes could be important. They were so nice about helping out. My mother told my Father to run over there and that we would follow. She telephoned her siblings. My Grandmother was in and out of the hospital for a while. She died early on a Shabbat morning. The Family was called to the hospital. This was 2 days after Chanuka. The nurse who was on duty the night before said that my Grandmother had told her the night before about the most beautiful sunset she had just seen (probably the beginning of the Shabbat). Since then, whenever I see a beautiful sunset on Shabbat, it scares me. My Mother went in the next morning; but my Grandmother could not speak. Afterwards she told the nurse that she could not speak for she had tears in her throat. So many people came to the Shiva: Family, friends, and people that my Grandparents had helped in various ways³¹⁹. This taught me that one doesn't have to give charity with money; but can do so with good deeds.

It was decided that my Grandfather could not stay in "the house" alone. My Aunt Frances and Uncle Joe then lived in an apartment Hotel on Central Park west. She rented an apartment for him in the building. He was bored during the long days. He came to live with us. We had a 3 room small apartment and gave him the bedroom. It was very crowded, but he was in his own neighborhood. My Uncle Lionel built a room for him in the basement of their house, in Franklin Square, Long Island. He was alone most of the day. My Uncle Norman gave him a room in his house in Mount Vernon, New York. He was alone for a good part of the day. He now had 4 homes. One day my Auntie Rose came home and saw that he didn't feel well. They decided that he could not be by himself and to put him into a nursing home in the area. I wrote him letters everyday. The women in the home liked him and tried to sneak into his room. This made him angry. We went to visit him one Sunday, My mother thought that he wasn't attentive and said that I should understand that I should stop writing him letters. He heard, turned to me and told me that he hadn't received a letter for a few days. He died a few days before Pesach; about 4 months after my Grandmother.

The Herschman Family

My parents were always Religious Zionists. My Father was a true Zionist and lover of the land and State of Israel.³²⁰ My Mother wanted my first memory to be the UN vote about the State of Israel.³²¹ She influenced one of my friends very much, and my friend remembers this up to today.³²² My Mother tried to hide these facts of what she was inside her home, and keep her religion and Zionism, behind the closed door of the house. I could not understand that if this was the way to be, why it had to be sort of a secret. I can think of one situation where she was perhaps correct.

I was in seventh grade in PS 167. There was a parents-teachers meeting one afternoon and school was closed for the pupils. My Mother went to speak to my teacher. I anxiously awaited her return; being sure that she would return and say the usual: that the teacher was very happy with me. She returned and was angry. The teacher had asked her what kind of an upbringing I was receiving at home. He was referring to the fact that when he asked me what I wanted to do with my life, I had told him that I planned to live in Israel. He said that I was not a proper American girl and had no respect for what the wonderful country I lived in. I now think that both the teacher and my Mother were right; but I would be in such a situation again, I would do so again!

A while later My Mother remarked to me that my interest in Zionism³²³, was such that I studied it as if it was a subject in a university course. Now Zionism is a University course. When I studied in the Ashkelon branch of Bar Ilan University³²⁴ and in the Israeli Open University³²⁵, for my BA, among the course that I took were courses on the history of Zionism.³²⁶

We lived in a small apartment. The house was full of books. Before my parents came on Aliyah, there were about 6000 books.

We were economically considered lower middle class and as far as income charts went, we were considered on the highest level of the lowest class. My parents tried to hide this fact; but we all knew it and lived accordingly. I never remember buying anything without looking at the price tag first. When I was young, I wanted to go to sleep-over camp. My Uncle Norman gave my Mother enough money to pay for about half of it.

MY Father worked for the OPA³²⁷ during and after the WAR. He then started his own import-export business; but this could be considered more of a hobby than a livelihood. Therefore he also worked in the Lubavitch³²⁸ high school as the English secretary. He regarded this as a job and not an affiliation. When our Sterling Place apartment house began to have Negro tenants, my parents decided that it was time to move. They were not against living in the vicinity of Negroes; but were afraid of who might linger in the vicinity of the house. They were lucky enough to find an apartment that they could afford in the same neighborhood³²⁹. The men that worked with my father in the Lubavitch office helped with the moving. My Mother remarked that it was obvious that they were his and our best friends. My Mother spoke often about getting a job; but always, after a calculation decided that she would not be earning that much, in the long run.³³⁰

My parents gave charity. At one time, my Mother was annoyed, for she claimed she was saving as much as she could to give charity. This caused her to buy cheaper food. Then she saw people who she knew were receiving charity, buying better products.

My parents were very moral people. Yet, now thinking about this, there is 1 fact that may not be considered too moral. This is that they felt themselves superior to certain groups of people, particularly groups of Jews who came from particular places such as Galicia, Poland, Hungary and Romania. When they became friendly with people from these places they stated that their friends were exceptions. They liked oriental Jews³³¹,³³² when they were in America and afterwards, when they lived in Israel. I can, more or less, understand the basis for my Father's way of reasoning, since he came from the family of the Vilna Gaon. His complaints were on an intellectual basis. The only way that I can understand my Mother feeling this way is based on something that I once learned about English Jewry. This is that the Jews who already lived in England felt themselves superior to the newcomers and didn't have a nice attitude toward them.³³³

I remember my Father enquiring about prices of Jewish Day Schools, even before I entered first grade. They were out of my parents' economic budgets I was sent to the schools that we could afford. I received a scholarship/ reduction for them. I attended both Public school and Hebrew School, and then I attended Erasmus High School and Marshalliah Hebrew High School. I was religious and very Zionistic. This already put me in a special category. I was very happy when my Father explained to his good friend Mr. Harellick about me not fitting into the American youth culture and Mr. Harellick culture suggested that I go to Bnei Akiva³³⁴.

One Friday night-Erev Shabbat, there was a big celebration-Simcha for ALL of the Jewish women in the neighborhood. There was a special guest and he was going to speak in the Chovevei Torah Synagogue³³⁵. He was Menachem Begin³³⁶. The Synagogue must have been full. For there was no getting into it, or even near it. The street was full of women. When he walked by the Ultra Orthodox women were kissing his coat, as if he was more than a holy man. My Mother and I were part of the crowd that demonstrated that this great welcoming for him. This also proved that all the Jews can be united.

Now as a Mother I understand my parents feeling when I was adamant about coming to Israel after graduating from High School. Yet they had taught me that Zionism was supreme.

I participated in Bnei Akiva Hachshara in 1962 and came on Aliyah in 1964. Then my parents realized that only Israel was the place where I could be.

My parents came³³⁷ on Aliyah in January 1965. At first they lived in the Academic Hostel in Ashkelon³³⁸. This was hard physically for them in a 1 room apartment, which all their belongings³³⁹. They found a nice Synagogue in the Afridor neighborhood of Ashkelon. My father could not find work in the Ashkelon area. My Mother used to enjoy watching everyone go to the games on Shabbat afternoon. Yet it bothered her that this took place on Shabbat.

They moved Ramat HaNasi, a new neighborhood in Bat Yam³⁴⁰. When they first went to see the apartment my Father remarked that the area was so sandy, he had to rollup his trousers, as the sand got in to the cuffs of his trousers. The area developed quite nicely. My father found work in Dunn and Bradd Street³⁴¹ firm branch in Tel Aviv. My Mother helped him with the typing of his reports. They found a nice cultural life in Tel Aviv.

They enjoyed their Granddaughters very much. They were not too happy about us living on a Kibbutz for ideological reasons; but as far as our daily life was concerned were pleased. They enjoyed visiting us; however my Mother always was shy of the kibbutz members. She once said that she did not feel herself good enough to be in their company. They enjoyed when they had guests (family or friends from America).

My Father started not to feel too well; and my Mother was against calling the doctor or going to the doctor. At first she said that it was almost Purim and it would be a shame to bother a doctor at this time of year. Ayelet was then in high school and had a few hours of volunteer work every week. She spent them visiting her grandparents. A few months later my Mother understood that they must call the doctor. She asked that I come to be there when the doctor came. The doctor came and said he had to be taken to Wolfson Hospital³⁴². My mother did not want to go with him in the ambulance. He went through various tests and had to stay in the hospital. The tests didn't show anything seriously wrong with him; but one doctor said to me "your Father is a very sick man". He went home and a short while later had to return again to the hospital. He returned home and felt he was feeling a bit better. I was there on a Thursday night and he asked me to bring him delicatessen³⁴³ the next time I would come. On the following Shabbat the telephone rang. Doria asked me why I was answering it on Shabbat. My mother said that my Father was in a bad way³⁴⁴ and they were going to the hospital and that we should come. She went with him in the ambulance. We got there and he was already gone. Yes, he had a hard end to his life.

My Mother was very brave and was able to continue her live in their apartment. She came to us quite often for Shabbat. She attended lectures in Tel Aviv.

About 3 years later she started to feel bad. She diagnosed herself, as having breast cancer. She agreed that I call the doctor. The doctor said her diagnosis was correct. The doctor wanted her to go for an operation. She did not want to. She claimed that doctors experimented on old people. She came to live with us. The situation deteriorated slowly. The Kibbutz nurse (Adina Baruchi), was very good to her/us came to give her an injection every evening. She liked having members of the family around and enjoyed if they would help her if she needed it. She did not like if other people came to visit. The only member of the kibbutz whose visits she enjoyed was Yehuda Neuman³⁴⁵. He understood this and tried to come about once a week. She had intellectual conversations with him. Once she asked him why the snake is the symbol for Israeli medicine³⁴⁶.

The sickness reached such a stage that she found it hard to take physical care of herself. We were not always around to help her. Therefore she was entitled to help from Israeli social ³⁴⁴ My mother said that the last words that he uttered were him calling for his Mother.

³⁴⁵ He was a member of the Kibbutz from the very beginning, when it was located in the Etzion bloc. He has done much writing on this subject. He is also a very learned person.

³⁴⁶ Moses is said in the to have set up an image of a brazen serpent so that those who looked upon it would be healed. When the people of Israel wandered in the desert, they murmured against God and against Moses. As a punishment "fiery serpents" of the region were sent against them, and very many died of their poisonous bites. When they repented Moses was bidden to put upon a lofty pole an image in bronze of such a serpent. The sufferers then only had to look upon this were healed of their sickness. security. She had a woman come to help her a few hours a week. Mordechai and our daughters helped as much as possible. Koby also helped. She got along very well with this woman, who was a Persian Jew. The situation continued to deteriorate. She died in our house on the last day of Chanuka. Yes, she had a hard end to her life.

Conclusion

After finishing this article, I knew that I had to write a "Conclusion". I then had a problem, for I did not know what to write. I felt that I had said everything in the "Introduction" and in the contents of the article. Then I realized what my problem was: How could I write a "Conclusion" about my Family.

Therefore I understand what I want to say is that I hope that

1. We will always continue to be a family; regardless of how physically close we are to each other.
2. We will continue to grow, in number and in spirit. Jackie has become a Grandfather, in the time that I was writing this article
3. We will always value and respect our past as a Jewish family and hope and pray to continue as such.

I thank all of you, who have helped me, by sending me valuable information for this article, and hope that the connection between us, which this article has caused, will continue. I hope that you all enjoyed reading this article; for I know how much I enjoyed writing it.

B. In Flanders Fields³⁵³ by John McCrae, May 1915

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields

GOLDING LIST JuddE Posner

- 1) Given names of family members.
- 2) Surnames: Women are listed by their Maiden names. The Only exception to this is when a maiden name was not known in which case it is listed under the married name.
- 3) The third column is the spouse's first name, provided to distinguish between two individuals with the same given name.
- 4) The fourth column is the married name of female family members.
- 5) The fifth column lists the family (maiden) name of the female spouse.
- 6) The sixth column lists the given name of the male spouse.
- 7) The page number column will lead you to the location of the individual in the genealogy.
- 8) A question mark is used if a given name is unknown. An m or f is used to indicate the gender but unknown name.
